AN OLD NEWSPAPER.-The Newport Mercury, published at Newport, Rhode Island, completed the hundredth year of its existence the 12th inst., the first number of that journal having been issued June 12th, 1758. It was founded by James Franklin, and his press—the one on which he and his younger brother, Dr. Benjamin Franklin so often worked—has remained in the office to the present day a very his 21th Manual Company. present day, a venerable relie. The Mercury was afterward published successively by Mrs.

Ann Franklin, the mother of James and

"Tarkeys" Benjamin; by Samuel Hall, who married her daughter; by Solomon Southwick, Henry Barber, Rosemanier & Barber, William & John H. Barber, John H. Barber & Son, and William Lee Barber, who died in 1850.— The present publishers are F. A. Pratt & Co. They stereotyped for circulation on the cer tennial anniversary of the Mercury, a fac-simile of its issue for December 19, 1758— the earliest perfect number in their possession. It is a dingy little sheet, about 7 * 12 inches. The contents are letters from London descriptive of the then condition of political affairs in Europe, a short essay on agri-culture, an account of the taking of Fort Duquesne from the French in November, 1758, sixteen ordinary advertisements, and one special notice inserted most conspicuously across the editorial page, to wit: "Any Person who plays well on a Violin, on Ap-plication to the Printer hereof, may be informed where he will meet with proper En couragement.

A good deal of bogus business of various kinds has been broken up by the wise and just decision of the Postmaster General, that people whose business is of such a nature that they will not use their own not over respectable names in transacting it, shall not have the facilities of the post-office. The letbut returned to the dead letter office, whence they are sent to the verdant people who have entrusted their money to bogus fottery managers, bogus gift enterprises, horus downs. ters sent to bogus addresses are not delivered, but returned to the dead letter office, whence gers, bogus gift enterprises, bogus doctors and the "retired physician whose sands have nearly run out," but who has long been re-plenishing his glass with sands that are "dianond sparks" or gold dust, at least.

If an account of all these rascally enterprises could be written it would make one of e most remarkable chapters in the history of imposture. With such evidences of the popular credulity, with Mormonism, and with other manifestations of superstition and infatuation, it is not best to talk too much of the advanced civilization of the nineteenth century and of the general diffusion of intelli-gence.—Prov. UTAH NEWS. WASHINGTON, June 20. Col. Kane has arrived here, bringing dispatches from Gov. Cummings whom he left at Camp Scott, May 15:h. They were de-livered to the President. Their purport has not officially transpired but it is ascertained that many of the accounts with which the public mind has been preoccupied are erronous. To this fact may be attributed the u pour cous refusal of Col. Kane to communicate with the President. It is understood that Col. Kane denies the truth of the telegraphi annuarement from Booneville, intimating that the army would move on the arrival of the Peace Commissioners. Gov. Cumming has ordered it to remain where it is unti-orders shall be received from Washington Contrary to the reports widely circulated, Col. Wolfe's Celebrated Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Schiedam, Holland, expressly for dicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and restified with its spiritous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and asoma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic dimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 3,000 physicians in the Uni Milk, Delicate Franks and Ments can be preserved ted States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and
